here, owing to the fact that the telephone company has not at present got sufficient room for its business. The report is that an addition will be made to the building at the corner of Vaughan and Hanover streets in which the telegraph service will be located. The plan is to combine the working forces of both branches of the business. Patrons of the telegraph company believe that to disturb the present location of the Western Union will not be for the best interests of the controlling company.

B. & M. FILE PETITION FOR AN ABATEMENT

Concord N. H., Jan. 29--There was filed in the office of the Supreme Court in this city today a petition of the Boston and Maine railroad for an abatement of the taxes assessed upon its own property and the leased lines by the Tax Commission for the year 1911.

Counsel for the road stated that it was not intended by the filing of this petition to question or review the matter of railroad taxes, but the appeal is confined to the refusal of the Tax Commission at the hearing in September last to receive or take into consideration certain evidence in regard to intangibles which are not included in the total taxable property of the State and what was claimed by the railroad were escaping taxation.

In the petition to the court counsel for the road say that on evidence submitted by the railroad the commission was asked to find:

First, that on April 1, 1911, the $890,388 intangibles returned by the Selectionmen as of that date were but 7 per cent of the total taxable intangibles in the State, and that the commission find.

Second that the amount of the true value of the taxable intangibles in the State, April 1, 1911, was $18,095,507 or,

Third, that a very large amount of intangible property was omitted from the tax list on that date, and that the commissioners consider the same in determining the ratio of assessment to true value of property in the State on April 1, 1911, as the ratio applicable in taxing railroad the evidence and counsel hold that it thus cast upon the road an unequal and disproportionate share of the public burden and deprived them of the equal protection of the laws.

Counsel also stated that this appeal had been taken after a full and fair conference between the representatives of the railroad and the Tax Commission.

It was mutually agreed that it was very desirable to have the question of law whether this evidence offered by the railroad should have been received and considered authoritatively stated. Upon the filing by the Attorney General of the answer of the State, a hearing will be had before the Supreme Court or referees appointed by the court.

We have changed our picture service and are getting the best run of Independent Pictures procurable. Interesting Items Gleaned from Near-by Places

To show that a few of the "monarchs of the forest" can be found in these climes the choppers who are engaged in cutting off the wood lot on the former estate of the Newmarket road and which was bought last year by Warren Batchelder of Hampton, saved down a tree last week which judging from authenticated report, was a "whoopier."

At the butt the diameter measured 4 feet 2 inches and it was 30 feet up to where it forked, while in the part to the point of forking were two butt logs measuring 16 and 14 feet, and in the forks there two 16 feet, two 14 feet and one 12 foot logs, making 72 feet of logs in the two forks, or 102 feet in all, besides the top. The height was estimated at 112 feet.

In counting up the entire feet of logs it was found to contain 174 feet and it was estimated there was from 2500 to 3000 feet of wood in it. The huge tree was sawed it took seventeen minutes to saw through the butt. That was probably one of the largest trees in the section.

MARTIAL LAW FOR CITY OF LAWRENCE

Twelve Additional Companies Rushed There on Special Trains

WOMAN KILLED AND OFFICER STABBED

Day of Rioting in Which Street Cars Are Damaged--Gov. Foss Calls on Strikers to Return to Work--Dynamite "Plant" Exposed by Arrest.

Following a day of rioting, in which one woman was killed and many injured, the city of Lawrence with its striking mill hands numbering 20,000, was virtually placed under martial law last night.

So threatening did the situation become that Governor Foss issued an order calling out twelve companies of infantry and two troops of cavalry and these were rushed to Lawrence by special train during the night and will be ready for duty by daylight. Governor Foss also issued an order commanding the strikers to return to work and ordering the mill owners to pay them for 50 hours work, for 51, for 30 days time.

Last night Col. Sweetser in command of the troops issued a notice that no more mass meetings would be allowed and that all persons caught openly agitating trouble would be placed under arrest. The lines have been extended, and whereas the militia were formerly confined to the streets about the mills they will now take in a good portion of the city, and they have orders to arrest everybody causing trouble.

One woman, Annie Lopizlo, a striker, was killed during the rioting yesterday afternoon. She was shot during a commotion, and it is thought that the bullet was intended for Officer Benoit, who was afterwards stabbed in the back and taken to the hospital. His injuries are not serious.

The state police Monday afternoon arrested John Breen, a member of the school board and a prominent citizen, for planting the dynamite which was found two weeks ago. Breen was arraigned in court and held in $1000 bonds for further hearing. It is understood that more arrests will follow, and that all of the people who were found in the house where the dynamite was found will be released.

This dynamite "plant" was the most outrageous act of the strike, and it is said that a well known

That was the outcome of a conference at noon today by business men, Mayor Scanlon, Commissioner of Public Safety Lynch, Adj. Gen. Pearson and Col. Sweetser, in the Bay State Building.

The business men demanded increased protection for the city.

More Police and Troops.

The Mayor was authorized to employ as many police from the near cities and towns as could be available, also the Metropolitan Park

Police. He was also requested to petition Gov. Foss to send to Lawrence a sufficient number of troops to properly safeguard the city.

This does not mean that a declaration of martial law is desired, but the status will remain as at present, with the city in command of the situation, aided by the militia.

It does mean, however, that large detachments of troops are desired in the city. Adj. Gen. Pearson will determine the force, in consultation with Col. Sweetser.

Wild Disorder in the City.

This city from 6 till after 7 this morning was the scene of the wildest disorder that has prevailed at any time since the great strike of the textile workers began more than two weeks ago.

Pieces of ice were thrown through the windows of trolley cars loaded with those who wished to go to work in the mills at North Lawrence. Women and young girls in the cars became hysterical, and the men in them became panic-stricken. The strikers were in an ugly mood, and every car that arrived with mill operatives aboard, was quickly surrounded, the trolleys whipped off by one of the mob, and immediately a fusillade of pieces of ice was hurled through the windows.

When the trolleys were removed the cars were left in darkness, and those inside began a wild scramble to get out into the lighted street, not knowing what might follow the ice and probably not aware that it was ice that was being thrown.

Once outside they were greeted with cries of "scab" and derisive hoots. Most of them soon mingled with the crowd and thus escaped further attention from the mob.

Some of them who attempted to reach the line of soldiers drawn up at the head of side streets intersecting Essex street and leading to the mills were grabbed by two and sometimes three of the strikers, turned back, roughly jostled here and there until they were lost again in the crowd. Those having lunch boxes or dinner pails were the most conspicuous marks and were man-handled with very little ceremony, while some were beaten and kicked.

All of the women and most of the men were glad enough to get out of the cars and be lost in the mob, but a few of the men persisted in trying to reach a point where they would receive the protection of the soldiers, but they never had a chance to get there.

Lawless Awed by Bayonets.

The police who were on the streets could do very little with the crowd and made only a few arrests. Many persons were out in the face by flying glass, and some were injured by being hit with the pieces of ice.

Supt. Bruce of the Bay State road was hit in the face by a piece of ice and severely injured.

Frequently the mob made a demonstration against the soldiers, but the latter kept cool. Upon command of the officers in charge of the different squads the men threw a cartridge from the magazine into the barrel of their rifles when things began to look serious and then presented the bayonet at the charge. The click of the bolt as the cartridge was thrown into the chamber sounded ominously significant to the mob which after jeering half heartedly at the soldiers for a few minutes, moved off to another street, where the performance was repeated.

Crowd Well Organized.

The crowd was apparently well organized and seemingly had leaders, for when the cars were cleared of their passengers one would shout: "There are no more 'scabs' there so throw nothing more." The fusillade would be immediately suspended and rush made toward another car. By that time, however, there generally were no windows, the glass front and rear sides being broken in the cars that had been the object of their attention.

Judging by the different nationalities of the nine men arrested by the police the crowd was made up of Italians, Russians and Armenians. It may develop that those giving Russia as their birthplace were Poles.

Only two of the men arrested were armed. One of them, an Italian, had a revolver and another had a black-jack. There were quite a number of women in the crowd. It is safe to say that at least two-thirds of those who made up the crowd were not in sympathy with the acts of violence.

Col. Sweetser Follows a Mob.

Col. Sweetser and members of his staff accompanied by Dudley Holman, Gov. Foss' secretary, followed the mob all along the line, and Lieut. T. D. Howe of Battery C, who has been on duty here since the trouble began, did very effective work by mingling with the crowd and persuading them to move on.

When the tension was at its height Capt. Harry Campbell of Co. F, of Haverhill was struck under the eye by a piece of ice or a stone hurled by some one in the mob, but not seriously hurt.

Many Hold Error Responsible.

Many persons observing the action of the strikers this morning and who formerly were heartily in sympathy with them are disgusted with their conduct in this latest move and believe in strong repressive measures to prevent a recurrence. They say that if there is no check put upon such demonstrations there is no knowing to what lengths the strikers will go.

These persons are inclined to hold Error responsible in a measure. Others say that he is beginning to believe that the strikers are wavering and that some such demonstration as the one of this morning was necessary in order to prevent a stampede back to the mills.

If this was Error's object it succeeded perfectly, for less than half the number who were at work on Saturday got back into the mills this morning. It will undoubtedly prove a boomerang for him, however.

Hundreds who are not employed in the textile industry at all, but whose business brought them to Lawrence on the early cars, were held up and threatened. They had considerable difficulty in persuading those by whom they were approached that they were not intending to go work in the mills.

"I don't care whether they send cavalry troops here or erect scaffolds in the streets. We are going to win this strike," said Joseph J. Eitor after the demonstration. "We will resort to such methods as those of this morning if it is necessary. We turned one of them this morning. They were looking for a parade of 6, but we had our pickets out at 6."

After the parade the strikers assembled on the Common, probably 2000 or more, and Eitor exhorted them to prepare for another demonstration tomorrow morning.

Blanket your horse in cold weather! If a man allows his horse to stand in the street on a cold day in Kansas, without being properly blanketed, any officer can take the horse to the nearest livery stable and have it taken care of at the expense of the owner. Should the owner refuse to pay, he may be taken before the court and fined $250, and, if necessary, imprisoned in the city jail. Such an ordinance is in force in almost every city in the state and the horses are thereby legally protected from one of the commonest forms of cruelty.

An exchange hands out the following consolation to those who have been complaining of the severe weather. "Some folks are complaining that this is a cold winter, but it is mild, even summery, compared with that of 1740, when, the records say, ice began to form in October and kept it up until by the middle of winter, farmers were driving ox teams up and down the Merrimack as if it were a boulevard. People are now living who have seen Boston harbor frozen over so that horses hitched to sleds and sleighs went as far as Castle Island, while all the space now open water presented a scene of merry ice carnival."

In the big cities the fire horses are fast being displaced by the auto fire engines, just as the horses took the places of the men who used to drag the machine with a rope in days gone by. However, the firemen will always retain a warm spot in their hearts for the noble animals that formed their part in responding so promptly to the sudden call of the bell. It was interesting to see the horses rush forth from their stalls, take their places on either side of the pole, ready for hitching, eagerly awaiting the word to dash away to where the house might be burning. With the disuse of the horses much of the spectacular effect is gone; but the autos have come to stay, and are now a mighty factor in fire fighting, for everything depends on reaching a blaze while in the incipient stage.

The Portland Express says: Society's fight against crime must be unceasing. The modern criminal has reduced his trade to a science. It was thought that the Bertillon system of measurement was infallible but it has at least partially failed in the results expected because of the willingness of some criminals to undergo slight surgical operations which in their cases render the system useless. Then the finger-print system proved so efficacious that it was thought to be a great step in advance in the study of criminology. But in New York within the past fortnight shrewd thieves have secured thousands of dollars and on and around the safes they have blown they have left instead of tell-tale finger prints, nothing but glove prints. It has not taken the skilled burglar long to find out that a smoothly fitting tight glove handicaps him but little and completely baffles the officers.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES.

Public and Private Telephones.

The United States has developed an unrivaled telephone service by allowing generous profits to a private company. On New Year's Day England began the experiment of developing its telephone system by government, that is to say by tax money. It cannot be said that the start is fair, for the British government on Monday took over an inferior and deteriorating service under a contract of long standing. Ever since the contract was made the private company has barely maintained the plant which was to become the property of its successor, and the consequence was that London has not been well served. In fact, the telephone service of England has been so bad that the telegraph lines were used almost necessarily, and at a rate of toll which has run up a telegraph deficit nearly large enough to pay a 6 per cent dividend on our Western Union Telegraph company's stock. To this loss it will now be necessary to add a prospective similar loss on the telephones, with an allowance for the betterment of the plant on a national scale. The German budget for telephone appropriations has ranged from twenty-five million marks to almost double that in recent years, and the allowance is inadequate, although all that it was possible to include in the budget with its frequent debits and bond issues to balance.

The significance of those comparisons between public and private telephones is in the fact that the future prosperity of both telegraphs and telephones lies in intensive development, that is in developing the patronage of the great public by service both cheap and excellent. Here this problem is being attacked with great intelligence and ability by private capital, at its sole risk and in the hope of profit. The cable service of the world has been revolutionized by the same management.—New York Times.

Rev. John Lord closed his course of lectures on Great Representative Women at the Hanover Street Chapel, Tuesday evening, with a characteristic and interesting essay on Madame de Staël, her times, life and writings. This (Thursday) evening he delivered his lecture on Great Rebellions, at the same place. This lecture reviews the great rebellions of history, and compares them with the present. It has been well received in Boston and elsewhere and without doubt is interesting and instructive.

Horace Weaver of Winstead, Conn., writes home from Camp at Washington, that he has just "carried the log" three hours, as the penalty for shooting a hog while on sentinel duty. He had orders to let "nothing pass," and after a sharp tussle with the porker, he had to give in or shoot.

The Muscular Christianity lecture at the Temple on Tuesday evening, was excellently attended and very cordially received. Mr. Knowlton lectures again on Saturday evening next.

A daughter of Col. Shepley has come with him to Tortugas, The they attract to other members of the fleet. There is doubtless a measure of truth in this, although the advertisement would probably be regarded as too expensive if there were an actual loss in operation. At all events, Mr. Sumner's statement makes it clear that the question of expense is the final one in determining types of ships. While it is generally admitted that, on this ground alone the day of the passenger liner of less than 10,000 tons is probably past, at least in the North Atlantic service as it does not follow that the liner of 50,000 tons is to be the standard of the future. Of the ships now in commission none is more satisfactory, it is understood, than the 20,000-ton ship of the Caronia type. Providence Journal.

A pickpocket was recently arrested at a place of amusement in London, and on him were found watches, purses, snuff-boxes, and queerest of all, a box of bugs. What possible disposition could be made of such an etymological possession was a question that puzzled everybody. Subsequent developments showed that he would, unperceived, place one of his insect treasures upon the shawl or coat of a lady or gentleman, and then request permission to remove the disagreeable customer. While thus diverting their attention he would relieve them of their superfluous jewelry.

The Burnside expedition will not be seriously delayed by the loss of the steamer City of New York, there being a good supply of material aboard the other vessels. Letters say Gen. Foster's brigade will soon move toward Roanoke Island or Newbern, as circumstances shall dictate.

Increasing Cost of Foods
The Hon John Dalzell of Pittsburgh pleads with the House of Representatives and with the nation. Do not he begs, cut in half the tariff on steel. The Steel Trust can stand the strain; it is big and strong. But to cut the tariff rates will ruin the independents and leave the entire industry in the hands of an enhanced monopoly.

We have heard this great truth before, but it had passed out of the minds of a headless generation. Two years ago, when Andrew Carnegie told the Ways and Means Committee that steel needed no tariff, the patriotic defenders of imperilled home labor were quick to point out that the trust, perhaps could survive without protection but that the "little fellows" would surely succumb.

True, such little fellows as Jones & Laughlin of Mr. Dalzell's own town are rather ardent infant industry steel makers. True also, the independents are constantly increasing their percentage of the business. The more reason they should not be wiped out. To put it mathematically, we might sacrifice a trifle of the $9.20 profit in rolling a ton of rails but we must of never, never endanger one cent of the $1.16 paid to labor in that same operation, according to Commissioner Herbert Knox Smith.

Mr. Dalzell might have cited high authority conclusive authority. Mr. Roosevelt himself, not so very long after the formation of the Steel Trust, and years before he had given it leave to swallow its most coveted rival, pointed out this same economic fact of the danger to independent steel makers in tariff reduction in his speech at Cincinnati, Sept. 26, 1902. Mr. Dalzell speaks therefore as a Progressive New Nationalist Republican. The country should hear and heed—New York World.

Saves the "Independents"
As long as we continue to have an exportable surplus of meats and grain in the United States it is evident our supply of the more essential foodstuffs exceeds the home demand. It is, therefore, folly to argue that the increased cost of living must be ascribed to the fact that the increase in population steadily outstrips the increase in farm acreage or that the increase in urban population has been of late years, as the census returns show, three times greater than the increase in rural population.

The increasing disparity between the number of farmers in this country and the number of consumers of farm products in other gainful occupations might have brought on scarcity had not farm production been vastly increased at the same time from labor was diminished by the aid of machinery. Statistics gathered by the Government Labor Bureau show that the same amount of labor necessary to produce a bushel of wheat eighty years ago will now produce over eighteen bushels. The farmers are also in good part making up for the past infertility of exhausted soils by more efficient tillage.

We still have the capacity to feed ourselves and all the swarming millions who have sought our shores in order to enjoy the blessing of free government and larger opportunity of wholesome living. When the time comes that we must import our bread and meat from other countries, instead of being sellers of bread and meat in the world market at world prices, we may find reason to in some part ascribe higher prices to a shortage of farmers and crops. But not yet. We must still make further study of the lifting effect of tariffs and trusts, the manipulations of the money markets, and the up and down of gold production.—Philadelphia Press.

BITS OF SPORT

It is said that a candlepin match is shortly to be arranged between two teams, one composed of Harry Young and Harold Ham and the other John Renner and Hiram White. The men are said to be very equally matched and would make an interesting game.

A dispatch comes from Hot Springs that the ball players have commenced to assemble there. This makes us realize for a certainty that the season is not such a great ways off. But about a month more and the players will be getting away by teams, and six weeks more and they will be shooting the box scores at us.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Portsmouth given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this:

Reading of Doan's Kidney Pills, I decided to give them a trial and procure a supply at Philbrick's Pharmacy. They cured me and I have since recommended them to my friends and acquaintances." (Statement given May 16, 1905.)

RAILROAD NOTES

A new steel trestle has been placed in the bridge at Bear Camp on the Conway branch which now makes this line of the Boston and Maine ready for larger locomotives. At present Atlantic 4-type engines are running through from Boston to Intervale.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Engineers of the Boston and Maine railroad has sent a committee before General Superintendent Charles E. Lee, and it is understood that one of the requests sought by them is a $5 a day minimum rate for all engineers and double time for overtime work. It is thought that some little difficulty will arise in securing this rate and the result is being watched with interest. It is understood that the engineers are determined to secure this stipulation if such a thing is possible.

From all appearances the local branch of the American railway employees and investors Association is dying a natural death. Judging from the inactivity of the organization. It is also noticed that on no other point on the road has the association been heard of outside of a few meetings held shortly after it was organized.

President Mellen of the New Haven and Boston and Maine lines accompanied by Samuel Hemmingway of New Haven and J. B. Brady are at Palm Beach sightseeing. They are traveling in the president's private car.

Did you ever consider that at some time it will be necessary to make some repairs on any heater you may select, would you select one now, that at any time you wished to make repairs, you would not be able to get them, or if you could, it would take 2 or 3 months, certainly not. CHRISTOPHER GETS GOOD LEAD OVER PAUL POEHLER

First Half of Twenty String Match for Championship Disastrous to Local Man--Press Defeated City Hall Team--Beane's Clerks Again Winners.

John Christopher of Boston defeated Paul Poehler of this city, in the first half of the twenty strings at candle pins for the championship of New England and a purse of $400, at the Arcade alleys on Monday evening. He finished the ten strings with a lead of 44 pins, and Poehler with only 32 and Poehler will try and overcome this lead at the Boylston alleys in Boston this evening.

The match was witnessed by about two hundred people who crowded into the Arcade alleys, special bleachers being erected in the rear and the first and fourth alleys being covered and seats arranged, the match being rolled on the second and third alleys. In the crowd were howling fans from Dover, Rochester and Portland, and about twenty well known bowlers were here from Boston.

The totals were not very big although good for a match of this importance and it might be said that Poehler had the worst of the going. He repeatedly got bad breaks, and although brilliant at times he was somewhat off on his clear up shots, a feature of bowling at which he has been especially strong. He rolled an average of 100 but his strings ranged from 82 to 120, the last being for his last string when he pulled down Christopher's lead by thirty.

Christopher was at his best last evening. They were breaking good for him and his fast ball on these speedy alleys worked well, his kick-back being very damaging. He made about four strikes one of these on top of a spare, and he was good on single pins, a feature which he does not usually show up as brilliant as some of the other bowlers. He has a wonderful first ball.

Christopher started the match by taking the first string, 105 to Poehler 93, and he increased his lead in the second by six pins. The third string was Poehler's Waterloo, for Christopher got going very fast and piled up 140 whereas Poehler had to be contented with 97. This gave him 51 pins lead. The local man pulled off two on his next string 103 to 107, but had a bad slump in the fifth when he rolled only 32 and Christopher had a lead of 75. Neither reached the century mark in the sixth string, but in the seventh Poehler reduced the lead by 14 pins, and he took five more off on the eighth, but lost seventeen on the ninth. Starting the tenth string Christopher had a lead of seventy-four pins, but here Poehler for the first time showed his real form and reduced the lead by thirty pins scoring 120 to 90, closing the match with Christopher 44 pins to the good.

Had Poehler five more strings to go, he would have finished in the lead, for he was just coming to his game.

There was a good bit of money up on the match and the Boston fans with Christopher found all of the takers they wanted after the match on the final results and many bets were made.

Poehler will go to Boston this forenoon and he will be accompanied by a good number of fans from this city who have faith that he will overcome the lead of Christopher and win the match.

Manager Mowse has arranged to telephone the strings to the Arcade alleys where they will be posted.

Hunting Up Survivors
Every effort is being made by the navy department to trace survivors and the heirs of victims of the Maine in order to give them several small trinkets recently recovered from the wreck.

A Marine Held for the Job
On Monday morning it was discovered that the office building of the machinery division had been broken into and a small amount of money in the desk of Capt. Bartlett taken along with some books. A member of the marine guard was placed under arrest in connection with the break. Entrance was gained by breaking a pane of glass and removing the catch on the window.

An Argument Over the Hike
The physical test taken by officers at Washington, has started a question on the complications that have occurred.

Captain Robert S. Griffin assistant in the Bureau of Steam Engineering was taking his post haste because of a question pertaining to battle ship bids which had to be decided immediately. It was necessary to despatch navy officers to find Captain Griffin and interrupt his test. The question now arises whether the distance he walked will count or whether he will have to cover it again. Likewise the navy officers who set out to find him and covered several miles distance want to know whether they can consider that as part of their physical test.

Expect to Open Hospital in July
From the present outlook the navy department expects to occupy a between the Beane and Lyndon Jerks and at 9.20 the Green's clerks will bowl A. P. Wendell's clerks, Mich.

the new hospital in July or August. When this institution is ready to care for the sick of the navy a corps of female nurses will put on duty there, also at Chelsea and Newport.

Where is Our Big Foundry?
An appropriation of $100,000 was made available by the last naval appropriation act for the construction of a new foundry building at the Washington navy yard. The total authorized expenditure was placed at $200,000 and the balance will be appropriated by Congress when the money is needed. The present foundry is entirely too small and inadequate, and the amount authorized for new construction will install an entirely new foundry, fully equipped. Bids have been called for by the Navy Department for the construction of the new foundry building, which will be open in that city on February 17.

Marletta Man at Hospital
A surgical operation was performed on one of the crew of the gunboat Marletta at the hospital on Monday.

LOCAL DASHES
Nearly three foot of snow fell in the North Country last night. There are at present thirty-one prisoners confined in the Rockingham county jail in this city. Harsh physics react, weaken the bowels, cause chronic constipation. Sloan's Regulets operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation. 25c. Ask your druggist for them.

The Boston and Maine have for the present abandoned the work trying to get water for locomotive use in the old wells in the yard here.

M. M. Buck and family left on Monday for Alberta, Can., where Mr. Buck will engage in wheat raising on a tract of 800 acres recently purchased by him. Mr. Buck said before departing that he has purchased several thousand dollars worth of farming implements, including the power machinery in popular use in the West.

Many of the people in this vicinity who have been fortunate enough to hear the Lotus Male Quartette sing are planning to hear them again on the occasion of their concert in the Methodist church, Feb. 8th. It is confidently expected that the capacity of the church will be taxed to the limit, and the Epworth League hopes to net a respectable amount from the concert which will be added to the building fund of the new church.

SURPRISED DOCTOR

Illustrating the Effect of Food
The remarkable adaptability of Grape-Nuts food to stomach disorders that they will reject every thing else, is illustrated by the case of a woman in Machs, Wis.

"Two years ago," she says, "I was attacked by a stomach trouble so serious that for a long time I could not take much of any sort of food. Even the various kinds prescribed by the doctor produced most acute pain.

"We then got some Grape-Nuts food, and you can imagine my surprise and delight when I found I could eat it with a relish and with out the slightest distress. "When the doctor heard of it he told me to take several small portions each day, because he feared I would grow tired of it as I had of all other food.

"But to his surprise, and that of everybody else, I did not tire of Grape-Nuts, and became better day by day, till, after some weeks, my stomach entirely recovered and I was able to eat anything my appetite craved.

"My nerves, which had become so weakened that I feared I would become insane, were also restored by Grape-Nuts food in connection with Postum which has become our table beverage. I appreciate most gratefully and thankfully the good your food preparation have done me, and shall be glad to answer any letters inquiring as to my experience." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

The CADILLAC has been strong enough to be in good standing for 10 years, weather the haws and keep one of the biggest manufacturers of autos like the Buick from going to the wall.

Nearly 3500 1912 CADILLACS delivered by January 1st. Portsmouth has sold half its automobiles.

It has 40 h.p., 116 in-wheel base, 26 in. wheels, averages 15 miles per gallon of gasoline, 800 miles to a gallon of oil, 4000 to 7000 on tires, has a better cooling system than any auto built. Fully equipped and delivered, $1950. Ton. shield, electric cranks, lights.

THINK HIM THEIR NEPHEW

Mr. and Mrs. David Day of Bridge street believe that the boy who was arrested by the Dover police in their nephew Clarence Day who has been missing from this city since Dec. 9. On that date the lad was sent out to the store by Mrs. Day and has not been seen since. He formerly lived in the South and came here two years ago.

Since living in the North, he has continually flunked for the sunny South and told his aunt that he would yet be back in Newbury, S. C. One day he disappeared, but had very little money and his aunt was satisfied that his trip to South Carolina would be cut short. He detected the idea of school and and probably jumped out on that account as much as any. The boy is now at the industrial school Manchester.

FUNERAL NOTICE

Funeral services of Mr. Alvin C. Reed will be held at the home, 18 Mulberry street, Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Friends invited.

I WONDER

If councilman Holmes is not a live man in the city government?

How far he will get with his good ideas before somebody gives him the book?

If the Portsmouth hospital has not done a large amount of good work this season?

If it does not seem good to hear no complaint against that institution?

If there were not a good lot of sports down from the Hub with Christopher on Monday night?

If the boy who has been puzzling the Dover police is not Young Day of this city?

If he is not the boy who started for Newbury, S. C., last month?

If there won't be some amendment to the Portsmouth police commission bill at the next session of the legislature?

If another phony attempt will be made to free the toll bridge in 1913?

If engineers and conductors are not getting the big end of the payroll on the Boston and Maine?

Why the Maine Central railroad officials are making so many inquiries about this port and the Atlantic Shore railway.

When the telephone and telegraph offices in this city will be located in the same building?

If Col. Asay is ever coming back to the political battlefield?

If these prizes for horsemen are still waiting for a trot on the speedway?

If they are waiting for more snow or do they want it held on the turf?
